MORMON INIQUITY.

Annual Report of the Utah Commission.

Polygamy Still Privately Practiced by the Saints.

The Territory's Admission as a State Not Desirable.

More Rigorous Penalties Recommended for Those Convicted of Forming Plural Marriages —Mormon Treason.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of the Utah Commission has been received by Secretary Noble. The report says that the commission, November 3, 1888, appointed a canvassing board of five reputable citizens, three of whom were Gentiles and two Mormons. This board made returns of the votes cast for Delegate to Congress on the 6th of that month, when it was found that John T. Caine (Mormon) had received 10,127 votes, R. N. Baskin 3484 votes, and S. R. Thurman 511 votes. Caine was given a certificate of election. With but one exception, the report states, there was no charge of fraud in the conduct of the election.

"The commission has," continues the report, "followed in the footsteps of the first Utah Commission, which recognized the fact that Congress, in creating it, desired it to use the best endeavors to wipe out and extinguish polygamy, and as far as possible all polygamous influences and tendencies. With this purpose in view the commission, in appointing registrars of election, selected, when possible, those belonging to the non-Mormon element, and always appointing a majority of the judges of election, two out of three, from the Gentile class. In some places, however, there were no Gentiles to fill the positions. This course, the report states, has had the effect of decreasing the Mormon vote.

POLYGAMY SECRETLY PRACTICED.

Touching the question of polygamy the report says: "Polygamy is not, at the present time, openly practiced, except perhaps in a few remote and out-of-the-way places, but the non-Mormon element insists that plural marriages are solemnized clandestinely and practiced secretly in the larger centers, and throughout the Territory. This may or may not be true. The commission neither affirms nor denies, in the absence of positive evidence. Doubtless many members of the Mormon Church never have practiced and never intend to practice polygamy, and perhaps many of them per se do not believe in the practice, but from the standpoint of their faith and creed they accept it as a revelation from God through the prophet, seer and revelator, Joseph Smith, ratified and approved by the great president, Brigham Young, and that whoever desires to do so should have the right to comply with this ordinance of the church. All laws forbidding the practice of polygamy," the report continues, "Mormon theologians declare unconstitutional."

[illegible] grounds for the belief" it is claimed as a saving ordinance, and that those who practice it are assured of a higher exaltation in heaven than those who content themselves with one wife. Extracts are given from Mormon papers, showing they still openly advocate polygamy. That the teachings and practice of polygamy has not been discontinued, as claimed by some, is proved, the report says, by the fact that since September 1, 1888, there have been in the Territory of Utah 357 convictions for bigamy, adultery, fornication and unlawful cohabitation; only two for bigamy. If plural marriages are now celebrated," says the report, "it is done in the secret chambers of the Temple. If polygamy is practiced, it is with the secrecy with which the burglar guards his house-breaking and the thief his larcenies. Those who are convicted of polygamy regard themselves, and are regarded by their friends, as martyrs, and think it no disgrace to be sent to the penitentiary." The courts are commended for their vigilance and also for the mercy with which their mandates are tempered.

OPPOSED TO STATEHOOD.

The commission, in view of the present condition of the Territory as regards polygamy, does not think Utah should be admitted as a State. Should it be, the commission says, it would not be long before the Gentile element with its advanced civilization, its trade and traffic, would be driven from the Territory and the Mormon theocracy be made supreme."

The commission makes a number of recommendations, among them that jurisdiction over all polygamous and sexual offenses, without regard to place, committed within the Territory, be conferred on the district courts; that the term of imprisonment for unlawful cohabitation be extended to at least two years for the first and three years for the second offense; that it be made a penal offense for any woman to enter into the marriage relation with any man, knowing him to have a wife living, undivorced, coupled, however, with a provision that in cases where the polygamous wife is called as a witness against the husband, her testimony could not be used in any future prosecution against her and a like provision as to the husband; that a person who refuses to take oath that he or she is not cohabitating with more than one husband or wife, in the marriage relation, as the case may be, shall be excluded from making location and settlement upon the public lands; that the laws with reference to immigration of Chinese and importation of contract labor, paupers and criminals be so amended as to prevent the immigration of persons claiming that their religion justifies the crime of polygamy; that the Constitution should be amended so as to further prohibit polygamy; that a law be enacted creating a board to consist of the Governor, Utah Commission and Secretary of the Territory to apportion Salt Lake into aldermanic and councilmanic districts.

It also recommends that the commission be authorized in its discretion to cause to be made annually new registrations; instead of revisions of former lists; that Congress pass laws for the government and conduct of public schools in the Territory of Utah; that as soon as the result of the eleventh census is known, the Territory be redistricted for legislative purposes. The commission believes that the limitation on prosecutions for polygamy and bigamy should be extended and sentence to hard labor should be added, "that their confinement may not be spent in idleness and glorification of their supposed martyrdom." The commission has no doubt that the punishment of women for voluntarily entering into polygamous relations would do much to lessen their zeal for the peculiar institution, and thus tend to remove one of its strongest bulwarks.

THE MORMON TREASON.

In regard to the prohibition of immigration the report says: "While we forbid the immigration of the non-proselyting, peaceloving, docile Chinaman, because we fear future danger from his coming; while we forbid the landing on our shores of contract laborers, because they cheapen the wages of American-born citizens; and paupers because they become a burden, there is far greater reason for closing our doors as a nation and forbidding citizenship to the hordes who are brought here to swell the ranks of an organized body which teaches them in advance to hate our Government, denominates its executive law-makers, judges and prosecutors as persecutors, and instils into every mind the constant teaching that their pretended revelations are more binding than the highest and best laws of the land, and that resistance to such laws is a virtue and the rendering of obedience to God. How far short of treason these teachings are we leave to those who can answer."

In concluding the report of the commission says that Congress should take no backward or even wavering step in the enforcement of laws against polygamy.

UNION PACIFIC.

Another Report That It Is Coming to California.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] A prominent friend of the Union Pacific Railway was seen last night in regard to a Salt Lake dispatch which stated that the Union Pacific was going to extend its line to the Pacific Coast. He confirmed the report in a general way, and said:

"There is but one error. I do not think that the line will be extended to the Pacific Coast. A new line, which is an extension of the Utah Central, will be built from either Frisco or Milford. The connection will probably be with the Atlantic and Pacific, for duplication of that line would be an absurdity. The junction may be at Barstow, Cal., rather than The Needles; but at either point there is an established line to Los Angeles and San Diego. The highest advantage of the new line will be the development of the coal and ore fields, which have not yet been penetrated. I am sure, however, that the president and executive officers of the Union Pacific will deny the rumors of the southern extension. President Adams is afraid if his plans are known he might incur the hostility of the Southern Pacific or Huntington interest."

THE NATION'S GUESTS.

SPANISH-AMERICAN VISITORS TO BE ENTERTAINED.

A Remarkable Railway Excursion Through Twenty States Arranged for Their Benefit—Other Hospitalities.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] A train of Pullman cars, which in appointments and arrangements for the journey is believed to be without precedent in the history of railroading, will leave Washington on Thursday next, bearing the representatives of American nations to the international conference, to be held next month at the National Capital.

The party, as guests of the Government, are to be taken over a large section of the United States, as announced in these dispatches before, in order that they may see and appreciate to some extent the vast resources of this country. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company agreed to undertake the task of arranging and carrying out the details for this unprecedented trip. It will be unique in at least two respects, namely in that there will be no change of cars throughout the entire distance of 5406 miles, and that this will be the first known instance where railways have permitted an entire train, with its own engine, crew, etc., to pass from other roads over their lines.

The amount of labor required to bring this about will be appreciated, when it is known that within the 12 days of journeying the train will pass over the main lines of 30 different railway corporations, passing through the States of Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Connecticut, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kentucky—20 in all.

For the purpose of the journey the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has equipped a vestibule train of five sleepers, dining car and composite car. The train starts from Washington next Thursday morning, and will go through Jersey City and over the West Shore road to West Point, where there will be a drill and the unveiling of the portraits of Gens. Grant, Sheridan and Sherman, presented to the Military Academy by George W. Childs. Next morning the party will go to New York on the cruiser Yorktown, and from there by steamer to Boston, after which they will take the train again through New England and New York, to the West and Northwest, and finally through several Southern States, back to Washington. An elaborate programme of visits and receptions is laid out at many of the stopping points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The delegates from South and Central America to the International Congress, to be held at Washington, October 22d, visited several down-town exchanges this morning, and were afterward entertained at lunch at the Lawyers' Club.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS.

They Deny Connection with the Grand Orient of France.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The Supreme Council of the Cerneau Scottish Rite Masons has issued a proclamation in regard to its trouble with the order, in which it says: "Merely with a desire to enter into friendly relations, a proposition was made, in April, 1888, to the Grand College of Rites, which the council then and now understands to be a purely Scottish-rite body attached to the Grand Orient of France. These relations have never been consummated, statements of enemies to the contrary notwithstanding." The council announces its loyalty to all Masonic bodies, and in proof thereof announces that the proposal in question is withdrawn, and everything set aside whereby it may be claimed that fraternal relations have been effected between the Grand Orient of France or any of its bodies and the Cerneau organization.

The Late E. A. Braley.

TULARE, Sept. 27.—Funeral services were held this afternoon at the residence of the late E. A. Braley, killed at Malaga yesterday. The services were under the auspices of Lake Lodge, I.O.O.F., of which deceased was Past Grand Master. All business houses were closed for two hours, and schools for the afternoon. The remains were sent to San José tonight for interment.

A South Carolina Tragedy.

COLUMBIA (S. C.), Sept. 27.—Alfred Barnett and Allan Petties, rivals for the hand of Carrie Black, met last night to talk the matter over. Soon after, the body of Barnet was found in the woods and Petties is missing. The girl, on being informed of the murder, swallowed laudanum and died this morning.

ATLANTA (Ga.), Sept. 27.—The Calhoun-Williams affair comes to the front by the arrest of the principals and seconds. Gov. Gordon granted requisitions and the two principals were put under arrest. They will go to Alabama and be tried for dueling. The penalty is imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than 10 years.

A Chicago Insurance Secretary Runs Away with the Savings of Many Poor People—Eastern Notes.

By Telegraph to the Times.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.), Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] J. T. Maxwell, a deputy sheriff, killed a negro woman at the Pratt mines today. The negroes became very much enraged and threatened Maxwell, and a messenger was sent to this city for men to protect him. The Sheriff has sent out a large posse.

A train has just arrived from the Pratt mines crowded with women and children, fleeing from home for fear of assault. The wires have been cut between this city and the mines. The conductor of the train reports several hundred armed negroes assembled.

Deputy Sheriff King Vann went out this morning to arrest a negro named John Steele at Walker's Station, a few miles from the city, on the dummy line. In sight of a crowd of people, John defied arrest, and killed Vann with a double-barreled shotgun. The negro fled, but a posse caught him. His dead body, riddled with bullets, is undergoing investigation at the hands of the Coroner.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

Knights of Labor Accused of Planning a Dynamite Outrage.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] During the Missouri Pacific strike of 1886, a train was wrecked at Wyandotte, Kan. Several strikers were arrested on a charge of causing the wreck, but were subsequently discharged. Two of them began suits for malicious prosecution. The testimony in these cases was taken here today. A deposition was made to the effect that the Knights of Labor at the time took charge of the cases of the train-wreckers, and spent $30,000 in their defense; also that out of spite at the failure of the strike, the Missouri Car Works at St. Charles, Mo., and the Vandalia freight depot at East St. Louis were destroyed by fire, and a plan was devised to blow up the bridge here by floating a dynamite-laden barge against it, but that this was not carried out. The names of the actors in these events were given, and it was stated that men much higher in the ranks of the knights knew much about these things.

In view of these statements, it is said that Master Workman Powderly and Secretary Hayes, when they arrive here next week, will be put through the ashcavit mill, and other members of the executive board will be compelled to tell what they know. The local Knights say they have nothing to fear. They declare this move a ruse by the Missouri Pacific.

FIXING THE BLAME.

Investigating the Recent Railway Disaster at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The Coroner today began the inquest into the cause of the death of the victims of the recent accident on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific road at South Englewood.

Fireman La Cloche of the freight train which crashed into the passenger car testified that the semaphore was not thrown against his train until it was within three lengths of the passenger car, and that Engineer Twombley was sober. As soon as the semaphore fell he did everything possible to stop the train.

Brakeman Edward Witted of the freight train testified that he saw the semaphore thrown against his car when

AT THE PAVILION.

ANOTHER VERY GOOD DAY FOR SIGHT-SEEING,

And a Very Good-sized Crowd Takes Advantage of It—The Baby Show—Award of Premiums—Notes of Specially Meritorious Exhibits.

It is pleasant to climb the stairs at the Pavilion and take a chair in the galleries where you can look down upon the display made upon the floor, and take in at a glance the whole picture presented. The surging crowd forms an interesting feature of the scene as it slowly drifts hither and thither, the boy and girl arm in arm with happy faces, talking of the things about them, as well as of the pleasant fineries that gladden their young lives. The older people, who with practical eyes look upon the display, and calculate how much such and such things would bring to the acre; and the poets and beauty lovers, who see all the pretty phases of the picture—the loveliness in the soft down of the peach; the rich color of the clustering grapes; the gracefulness of the drooping palms, and the beauty of the sparkling fountain.

That fountain is attractive even to the ordinary eye with the banana leaves drooping above it, and the graceful, swaying Egyptian papyrus plant lifting its delicate foliage of swaying, feathery green from its center.

There was a bit of the most charming byplay under its shadow last night. A slip of a boy, not more than 10 years of age, was escorting a dainty little miss of perhaps 8 years. What a gallant little chap he was, all smiles and attention, and evidently just full of boyish adoration for the beautiful little girl in his care. When they reached the fountain they sat down together on the rustic seat, and there they talked, and smiled into each other's faces, wholly oblivious of the crowd which was passing.

The fruit is tempting, and some may be seen that is "put up" in a form that is novel even to the most accomplished housewife. Oh, ye gods; think of it! The most luscious semi-tropical fruits you may buy here candied, preserved or put up in crystal cans, and what is more, you can purchase the luscious apricot and fig by the yard. Prepared in this way, it is dried by a certain delicate process which does not rob it of all its juiciness nor of its primitive color—then it is pressed into sheets of various lengths, and then it is ready for the market.

Some as fine figs as can be found in any market are among the exhibits displayed. Southern California will yet become noted for its figs. They are as fine, many of them, as the genuine Smyrna article, and when packed, have the advantage of greater juiciness and freshness.

The tall cornstalks, rising like limbed forest trees, take the eye of the tenderfoot. How the cornfields of eastern memory dwindle in comparison, and how full of promise are the large, well-filled ears!

"No one can deny that California is a land of plenty," says one, "and about everything that Nature undertakes here is on the biggest scale!"

There are as fine exhibitions of fancy work as can be found in eastern cities. Esthetic civilization is here as well as practical civilization, and beauty and utility are combined.

And, you down-east Yankee, come this way and look at the apples displayed; then will you never, if you are an honest man, say that "California can grow no such apples as New England." Round and smooth, firm yet juicy and rich in flavor, are these great red-cheeked apples that Southern California has nursed in her warm soil and ripened in the golden sunshine. You remember the Baldwins and russets of New England, the golden pippins and the rosy sopsavines, but your lips find these less delectable in all that goes to make up the perfect apple.

And now, the grapes! Such clusters the East can never show. Even the grapes of Eschal do not outrival them. Everything is here that Pomona cherishes or Ceres loves. The Horn of Plenty is full to overflowing, and the land is flowing with milk and honey.

The Evening.

From 7:30 to 10 o'clock last night the big hall was crowded with people, and the managers, who have been down in the mouth since the fair opened, brightened up and looked happier than they have since the show opened. So much encouraged were they, in fact, that they concluded to continue the fair next week.

The fifty-odd mothers who failed to win prizes for their tender offspring at the baby show in the afternoon made themselves heard at various stages of the proceedings during the evening. They were not all there, it is true, but there were enough of them present to make things very disagreeable for the managers, and had the judges who awarded the prizes been in the hall the chances are that there would have been trouble. The names of the judges have been kept a profound secret, and as soon as they made up their minds yesterday afternoon where the prizes properly belonged, they skipped out of the back door and were rapidly driven away from the Pavilion in closed hacks that had been ordered by the fair management. The managers agreed to protect the baby judges as far as possible, and it is believed that they were fairly successful, as no murders were reported at the police station last night.

LOWE GAS COMPANY.

Among the exhibits in the gallery the most striking is that of the Lowe Gas and Electric Company, which has already been briefly noticed. The superiority of the gas manufactured by that company is shown at a glance and is universally remarked. An arch springs over the entrance to the booth which reads in letters of fire as white as pearls, "Lowe Gas." Inside the gilded railing there is displayed a bewildering array of gas appliances of all kinds, cooking stoves and ranges, heaters, open fires, waffle bakers, hot plates for cakes, flatiron heaters, hot water heaters, etc. All about the gallery where the gas is burning is displayed the sign "Lowe Gas," it being used in the mantel displays for open fires, gas logs, etc., and for making candy, popcorn, and in the company's booth a fine chef from Gardner's is constantly cooking and turning out to the throng, hot waffles, toast, biscuit, cake and other delicacies—cooked as only gas can cook. It is the show of the fair.

LOS ANGELES GAS COMPANY.

A good deal of interest centered around the exhibit of the Los Angeles Gas Company.

Some gathered around to sample the hot waffles and others to see the samples of prize bread (made by a handsome miss of 14). Every one seemed cheerful and everything seemed in apple-pie order.

No one can deny that the Los Angeles gas is the best the market affords and has never been surpassed either for heating or lighting purposes.

HENRY BOHRMANN

again carries off the blue ribbon, in spite of all competitors, for having on exhibition the finest hand-carved wooden and marbleized iron and slate mantels and open fireplace fixtures.

This is the fourth year that Mr. Bohrmann has come out with flying colors. His exhibit consists of elegantly carved wooden and marbleized iron and slate mantels, open fireplace fixtures, old English hob baskets (grates), art tiling, antique bronze parlor baskets, also fine specimens of California and native woods.

Mr. Bohrmann is a thoroughly practical man at his trade, and in his line is considered one of the best designers on the Pacific Slope.

JOHN W. GARDNER.

John W. Gardner, sole agent for the Steinway, Steck and Hardmann pianos, has an exhibit that has attracted considerable attention. Mr. Gardner is located at 212 South Spring street, and is doing a rushing business, especially in the Hardmann piano. This instrument is quite a favorite, and is considered the finest piano now on the market. Mr. Gardner has sold 200 of them during the past few months, and the demand is increasing all the time. Mr. Gardner keeps a full and complete stock of musical merchandise and sheet music. Tuning and repairing of all kinds of instruments will be promptly attended to.

NOTES.

Over 1900 people visited the hall during the afternoon to witness the baby show.

The father of the prize baby, Mr. Wise, is an employé of the Lowe Gas Company.

The managers of the fair have learned several things since the doors of the Pavilion were thrown open, which they never dreamed of, and if they hold the same position next year, they will know how to secure a big attendance on the opening night.

A countryman and his "gurl" were in the art gallery last evening inspecting a fine oil painting, when the hayseed was heard to say: "They du say as how that 'ere work wor done by hand."

The managers held a meeting late last night and decided to run the Fair into next week. They came to this decision on account of numerous requests that were made by citizens who have just discovered that there is a good display. The Fair may not run all week, but they will keep it up as long as people continue to visit the hall. A fresh supply of fruits will be put in tomorrow.

Tonight the Lowe Gas Company will serve broiled chicken and hot cakes, and the Los Angeles Gas Company will roast a turkey in 50 minutes.

The Pacific Clay Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles and South Riverside has a good display of vitrified salt-glazed sewer-pipe, water-pipe, hollow building blocks, chimney-pipe, etc. The quality of its work is of the highest standard. Its factory is at South Riverside, and the principal office at No. 113 South Fort street, this city.

Mrs. F. Edward Gray of Alhambra was awarded the first premium for the finest display of flowering plants. There are 16 varieties in the collection, including many choice and beautiful begonias. The plants have suffered from the heat and bad air of the Pavilion, and some have shed their leaves, while others are discoloring and curling, but the display is still very beautiful. The Alhambra exhibit, taken as a whole, is very creditable, showing many varieties of the very finest deciduous fruits. In the contest for the best arranged and best kept section, the premium for which is to be awarded today, Alhambra will stand a mighty good chance of winning.

REAL ROMANCE.

A BROTHER WHO HAD BEEN LOST NINETEEN YEARS.

By a Mere Chance He Discovers the Brother Who Had Been Looking for Him All This Time—A Happy Meeting.

Two brothers met in Los Angeles by accident, Thursday afternoon, after a separation of 25 years. Their story is a romance, and the brothers are so dazed by the meeting that they will not for several days know whether they are real flesh and blood or the characters in a book endowed for the time being with life.

A TIMES reporter called last evening at No. 5 North Main street, and witnessed the attempts of the two brothers to take in the situation. Their names are George W. Fischer, a barber, and J. E. Fischer, a Methodist minister. George Fischer runs the barber shop at No. 5 North Main, and is a rotund, good-looking man about 43 years old. His brother is 32, and also good-looking, but minus the silver threads in his light-brown hair, which were visible in his elder brother's head. J. E. Fischer is pastor of the Methodist Church at Los Alamos. The family resemblance between the brothers is striking, and they looked at one another in a curious way, as if they were afraid it might all be a dream.

Nineteen years ago George Fischer was in New York. The parents and three of their children were in Neresheim, Kingdom of Wurtemberg, in Germany. The remaining children, 15 in number, were in America. There had been 18 children born to Father and Mother Fischer—10 boys and eight girls. There came an epidemic which swept off the sturdy old man and his wife, one dying within a short time of the other. A guardian was appointed for the children remaining in Germany, and it was finally decided to send Joseph Eugene, aged 18, and William, aged 16, to America to their brothers. The matter was finally arranged, and the boys were sent to Bremen, with a steamer ticket, passage secured. They were not put on the steamer by the agents of the steamship company, but sent on board a sailing vessel, and this caused all the trouble.

Word had been sent to New York to the brothers that Joseph and William would arrive by a certain steamer at a certain time. At that time George Fischer was at Castle Garden, and the steamer was searched from top to bottom, but no boys. There is a very strong attachment between the Fischer brothers, and they were well-nigh distracted over the disappearance. Detectives were set to word, advertisements were inserted in the papers and every effort made to find them, all without avail. The brothers were finally obliged to believe the opinions of the detectives that the boys had been "shanghaied." They were given up as lost, and the Fischer family resumed the even tenor of its way. George Fischer finally left New York, and went to Chicago. In that city he finally became Water Inspector, and at last drifted out to Los Angeles, where he has been for the past two and a half years. During the past 19 years that have elapsed since the visit to Castle Garden, he has always had an idea that the boys were still alive. Wherever he has been he has advertised for his brothers. The advertisements were never answered.

Finally Thursday morning, while he was standing in his barber shop, a young man came in and asked him if he was Mr. Fischer. He replied that he was, when the stranger plied him with questions about his father and mother and family. George Fischer thought it a little bit strange that a total stranger should be so inquisitive about his private affairs, and asked the man his name.

"I guess I am your brother," he replied. George was so astounded that he could scarcely speak, but finally managed to ask him some questions, which satisfied him that the stranger spoke the truth. The scene that followed can better be imagined than described. After their first transports of joy were over, Joseph Fischer related the story of his wanderings.

He and his brother William landed at Castle Garden from the sailing vessel long after the search had been made for them. They were not long ashore, when they were robbed of their trunks, in which were the addresses of their brothers in New York. They wandered about homeless and moneyless, and could find no trace of their brothers. They came near starving, and finally William started out one day, saying that he was going to get work of some kind. He never came back, and has never been seen to this day. Joseph managed to get work on a farm, and drifted from one place to another, always looking for but never finding his family. He at last got a place, where he saved up money, with which he went to school. He studied for the ministry, and a few years ago was sent as a missionary to Panama, along the canal. He remained there until he came down with the yellow fever. He was then assigned to missionary work in California, and given the work amongst German-speaking people. He has been in Los Angeles county for three years past.

A friend of his was struck with his resemblance to a barber he knew, and jokingly told him that the barber must be a brother of his. Joseph happened to be in the city Thursday, and called at the barber shop, more out of curiosity than anything else, and thus the brothers, who had been searching for each other for nineteen years, came together once more.

They have passed each other on the streets many times during the past few years, but fate was not ready for them until Thursday.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Baby Show.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I attended on the baby show this afternoon, and want to enter my protest against the award of the judges, as well as to the discrimination of those judges. Truly, there was a fine display of pretty, healthy and sweet babies. One man and two women acted as judges. But the sour-visaged woman seemed to have it all her own way. The healthiest and prettiest of the babies present were passed by, by those model judges, without the slightest no ice, and the awards made were not such as disinterested persons would have made. My impressions, which were shared in by other visitors who stood around me, were that it was a put-up job.

The writer is a grandfather, and thinks he is a judge of babies, but was not interested in any of those exhibited, and if he had been a judge would have made very different awards from those that were made today.

CRUSADER.

[This is something new—dissatisfaction with the award in a prize-baby contest.—ED.]

LEE SONG

At the Bar to Answer for a Stabbing Affray.

Lee Song was on trial yesterday before Judge McKinley for stabbing George Pearson, July 18th, at the drug store of J. W. A. Off on South Spring street. In the afternoon of that day Mr. Pearson was standing in front of his livery stable on South Spring with a companion, when Lee Song passed along. The Chinaman was employed in the drug store, and had been made the butt of numerous jokes before that which irritated him. As he passed the livery stable Pearson's companion spoke to him, calling him "Monkey." The Chinaman thought it was Pearson, and, turning around, had a row with him, in which Pearson struck him several times in the face. Later in the evening Pearson drove by the drug store in a buggy. He was accompanied by a lady, and as he passed the drug store Lee Song was on the sidewalk sweeping. He called out to Mr. Pearson, using insulting names and asking him to give him his $10. Pearson checked up his horse, turned round and went into the drug store to complain about the Celestial to Dr. Off. It seems that in the former fight Lee Song had had a $10-piece knocked out of his hand, and wanted Pearson to pay him, not being able to find it again.

Pearson walked in back of the desk, and was talking with Dr. Off when Lee Song came in from the back of the store. He again asked Pearson for the money, when the latter stepped around Dr. Off and shook his finger at Lee Song, asking him if he had not got enough yet. The latter said, "I no flaid you," and with that pulled out a murderous-looking dirk-knife, and jabbed it into Pearson's abdomen. Then he ran away, but was afterward captured in a room where he had taken refuge. Mr. Pearson, fortunately, was speedily under the care of a skilled physician, and after being in bed for two weeks recovered.

Several witnesses were examined yesterday afternoon, when the story as told was elicited. The theory of the counsel for defendant is evidently self-defense. They are trying to prove that Lee Song was beaten by Mr. Pearson, and that when that gentleman appeared in the drug store and advanced toward him he felt that he must defend himself from another beating and possibly death. The trial will be resumed this morning.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Weekly Budget of the Board of Public Works.

The Board of Public Works met at the City Hall yesterday morning, Messrs. Wirsching and Shafer being present.

The board made the following recommendations to the Council:

That Denver avenue be opened.

That the petition of the Citizens' Water Company, to be allowed to put pipes 18 inches under the surface of Lucas avenue, be denied, as there is an ordinance regulating the laying of pipes four feet deep.

That the protest of the West End Board of Trade against the granting of a franchise to the Second-street Cable Railway Company to run a dummy road be filed, the Council having refused to grant the franchise.

That the grading of Seventh street, between Alvarado street and Park View be postponed until the property-owners present a deed to the city.

That the official line be adhered to in the matter of the sidewalk on Flower street from Pine street 225 feet south.

That in the matter of the Daly-street bridge, it be the sense of the Council that the bridge be removed, but the point to which and the expense of removal to be settled by the Council.

That the Union Construction Company be granted permission to move the sidewalks on Brooklyn street between Figueroa and Swift streets to official line.

That the City Engineer be instructed to define the line of Adams street east of San Pedro street to the charter boundary, and that the Street Superintendent be instructed to remove the obstructions.

That the following bids be accepted: Of Boyes & Crowley, at $2.07 per lineal foot, for grading Council street from Belmont to Howard street; of Mr. McGreal, at $2.95 per lineal foot, for grading Brent street from Temple street to Bellevue avenue; of Frick Bros., at $1.44 per lineal foot, for putting in the storm drain on Kuhrts street.

A HEATED CASE.

Mr. Behlow and Mr. Shorb Settling Through the Court.

A case in which the parties are very much at loggerheads was tried yesterday in Judge Clark's department of the Superior Court. The plaintiff is William Behlow and the defendants Mr. and Mrs. J. de Barth Shorb. The plaintiff has sued Mr. and Mrs. Shorb for a balance of $2843.35, which he claims is still due on the furnishing of the elegant residence on the Shorb place, San Marino.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Shorb went to San Francisco to arrange for the furnishing of their residence. They received a proposition from Mr. Behlow that, as he was selling out at auction, he would supply what was needed at reduced rates and actual cost. Mr. Shorb proposed to pay in land, and agreed to give it at a reduced rate. The trade was made and the house was furnished. Now Behlow claims that there is still owing them the amount specified. The Shorbs claim that the price of the articles in their bill were in excess of the agreement, and the Behlows have been more than paid. Such is the fight, and Mr. Gottschalk is attorney for the plaintiff and Judge Chapman for the defendants.

Mrs. Shorb was on the witness stand nearly all day yesterday, and explained accounts and bills until she was weary.

The case was concluded today, and will probably be taken under advisement by the Court.

LOTTERY MEN.

A Crusade Commenced Against Them.

At 3:15 p.m. yesterday Ah Sing was arrested by Officer Appel, on Wilmington street, and brought to the station, where a charge of selling lottery tickets was booked against him.

His bail was fixed at $40, and later in the day a member of the firm of Toi Ah Sing, a well-known lottery agency, put up the money necessary to release the prisoner.

The Chief has announced his intention of prosecuting a vigorous crusade against the vendors of lottery tickets in this city. The practice is a direct violation of the State law, and as this kind of gambling is one of the most pernicious in its effect upon the laboring classes, it should be sternly suppressed. Not only the Chinese agencies, but the vendors of Louisiana coupons will be compelled to obey the law.

TIE AND TRACK.

MANAGER M'COOL HAS GONE TO HEADQUARTERS.

The Force Still Considerably Torn Up and Special Agent Sibley Hard at Work — Approaching Meeting of the Board of Directors.

The disturbance in the Santa Fé offices still keeps at white heat. Mr. Sibley is hard at work, night and day, but he is as close-mouthed as when he first put in an appearance, and it is impossible for any one to get a satisfactory answer out of him on anything relating to the future workings of the road.

It leaked out yesterday that General Manager McCool has gone direct east, and will not stop until he reaches Topeka. It was given out when he left, day before yesterday, that he was only going as far as San Bernardino or San Diego, but at San Bernardino he checked his baggage for Topeka, and took the next train for that city.

His sudden departure for the East is not at all surprising, when it is remembered that the board of directors, with President Manvel in the chair, will convene on the 9th of next month. Mr. Manvel will be in Topeka early next week, and as several dispatches passed between Mr. McCool and Mr. Manvel just after Mr. Sibley sent his dispatch requesting the immediate removal of Mr. McCool, it is believed that the president and general manager intend to have a meeting before the directors come together. What the result of this meeting will be no one can tell at present; but it is not believed that Mr. McCool will remain with the company, and it is doubtful whether he will ever return to this city.

As soon as the directors adjourn their meeting Mr. Manvel will start for Los Angeles, and it is believed that he will be here about the middle of next month.

General Freight and Passenger Agent Hynes and all of his men feel quite safe. The new management seems to be after the operating departments, and up to date there has been nothing to show that the passenger and freight departments will be disturbed.

NEW SUITS.

The Palos Verdes Ranch Again in Court.

Suit was begun yesterday by the Pacific Improvement Company vs. H. V. Burner, the San Pedro Harbor, Dock and Land Association, the Southern Pacific Extension Company, the Occidental Business Development Company, E. T. Barber, John E. Burns, William P. Dougherty, J. K. Tuffree and Leander E. Fish. The plaintiff alleges that July 9, 1887, H. V. Burner made two promissory notes for $7500 each to Augustus W. Timms, and to secure them gave Timms a mortgage for $15,000. That thereafter Timms died and devised all his estate to Louisa Teresa Timms, and she assigned the notes to the plaintiff. The notes have not been paid, and the plaintiff asks for judgment for $15,000 and costs. The land mortgaged is the 704.92 acres in the Rancho Palos Verdes, over which there was recently such extensive litigation.

The W. H. Perry Lumber and Mill Company began suit against J. W. Douglas on a promissory note for $591.

John A. Wood began suit against C. S. Graves et al. on a promissory note for $600.

Petition for letters of administration upon the estate of George Winslow, deceased, was filed by Mrs. Emma Irene Winslow.

THE TEETOTALERS.

Convention of the W.C.T.U. Adjourns Sine Die.

The W.C.T.U.'s seventh annual convention would up its labors yesterday after an interesting session of several days.

The devotional exercises in the morning were led by Mrs. M. A. Huyck.

After the reports of department work were concluded Mrs. Lizzie H. Mills read an interesting paper on "Sunday-schools and Juvenile Work."

A paper on "Peace or International Arbitration," by Mrs. Frances Baright, was received with much interest.

The report of press work and of the White Ribbon Committee was made, and then the convention passed a number of resolutions.

The afternoon session was mainly a business meeting, at which reports of the different officers were received, and at 4 o'clock the convention adjourned sine die.

The Lawyers' Jangle.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Owens issued a warrant on the complaint sworn to by Hugh J. Crawford, charging Deputy District Attorney Hardesty with disturbing his peace, and the matter will come up this morning for further action.

In connection with the Burns case, over which the difficulty arose, Hugh Crawford came into Judge McKinley's court again Thursday afternoon with an affidavit charging Mr. Hardesty with having induced Burns to plead guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Burns was brought into court, and upon being asked if he wished to withdraw his plea of guilty, said that he did not, which settled that matter, and he is now on his way to San Quentin.

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

This cut is a faithful picture of the well known establishment of Thomas Price & Son, at 524 Sacramento street, S. F. As the leading chemists of the west, they were asked to settle the question as to what sarsaparillas were in fact purely vegetable. We present their report. "We have made careful chemical analyses of several well known brands of sarsaparilla, and have found them all with the single exception of Joy's to contain iodide of potassium. As a result we are enabled to pronounce Joy's to be the only purely vegetable sarsaparilla now on the market, which has come under our observation." Modern medicine has proven that all ordinary face eruptions are not caused by diseased blood, but by indigestion and sluggish circulation, which call for vegetable alteratives, instead of mineral blood purifiers like iodide of potassium. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla being the latest, is the first to discard the old notions and proceed under the modern theory. Its cures attest the soundness of the theory. It is the talk of the hour.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE dock laborers in Rotterdam are now striking, and London laborers will send them assistance. The labor markets of the world are at present in a state of suppressed upheaval.

GERONIMO and his Indians, now in Alabama, are to be removed to a tract of land in Western North Carolina, near the Tennessee line. As long as they are not allowed to go back to Arizona, it makes very little difference where they are stationed.

THE Napa Register says that forty tramps, going about begging and complaining that they could not find work, were set to work by a St. Helena vineyardist the other day, and by noon of the next day all of them had quit but three. These are the sort of toilers who are eternally hunting work, but always trembling lest they find it.

FRESNO's death rate would be lower than any place else in the world, if accidents and suicides could be avoided.—Fresno Republican.

If the handy, before-breakfast revolver, the reliable shotgun and the polished knife were abolished, and nobody ever got "neagled," we have no doubt a good many California towns would be "healthier" than they are.

COMMENTING upon a recent editorial mention by us of the large profits made in growing hyacinths in Holland, a correspondent suggests that some person who understands the subject should write an article on the culture of that flower. We shall always be pleased to make room in our columns for such articles of a practical character, and not too discursive in style.

THE scandal about the Bishop autopsy has scarcely subsided before the New York doctors have again been guilty of a similar unwarrantable action. This time they cut up a young man named Douty, who died from the effects of a debauch, before he was scarcely cold, and while many believe he was yet alive. It is about time that a stop was put to this sort of medical butchery.

THE Express goes to considerable trouble in blazoning forth the heinous fact that an eastern dispatch was incorporated in a TIMES editorial with only partial credit. We usually associate nobleness of character with greatness of intellect, and are therefore more or less surprised to find a lapse of this description magnified by a journal which has delighted the world with those coruscating literary gems yclept "Pungent Paragraphs." Then, again, remembering the axiom about throwing stones from glass houses, we should have deemed such hypercriticism unbecoming in a journal whose local news is largely snatched baldheaded, without as much as "Thank'e ma'rm," from our columns. For example, compare the half-column account of a difficulty in Judge McKinley's court in yesterday's TIMES with the same in the afternoon slow freight, more familiarly known as the Oxpress. (This last remark is not submitted as a piece of humor, but as a cold fact.)

REMARKABLE INCREASE IN SILVER CIRCULATION.

In spite of all that gold bugs do, there has been a remarkable increase in the popularity of silver certificates during the past three years, and friends of silver are urging an increase in the number of silver dollars coined by the Treasury each month. Three years ago there were nearly a hundred millions of silver dollars lying idle in the Treasury, and two millions more have been poured into the vault each month since that. In all, there are now actually 281,000,000 silver dollars in the Treasury vaults, but silver certificates have been issued for all but about 10,000,000 of them, so that almost all of them are now technically in circulation.

Few of the public, who handle these certificates, reflect upon or understand the difference between them and greenbacks. The silver certificate is simply an assurance of the United States Treasury that that piece of paper is represented by so many silver dollars in the Treasury vaults. They were issued to take the place of the coin, which is too bulky to become popular. In July, 1886, there were only about 85,000,000 of silver certificates in circulation; now there are 265,000,000. One reason of this is that greenbacks and national banknotes of small denominations are becoming scarce. One, two, and five-dollar silver certificates have taken their place.

It begins to look as if these certificates will crowd out the national bank notes, and thus quietly solve the vexed problem of what we shall do for a circulating medium to take the place of those notes. The Government keeps on purchasing its bonds, the bank circulation has fallen from $320,000,000 in 1881 to $200,000,000, and is still decreasing, and the silver certificates are increasing at a rate which would cause the national bank notes to disappear in five years more.

The Congress of American Nations, to meet in Washington next month, will consider the subject of silver, and the adoption of a standard silver coin for all America. This would further greatly extend the demand for silver. Altogether, the outlook for that metal was never brighter than at present. It is probable that the Government will yield to the request that the Treasury coin silver dollars up to its outside legal limit of $4,000,000 a month. The price of silver would then advance from the present very low figure; many mines that are now idle would start up again; new ones would be opened, and a great impetus would be given to the development of the Territories, by which California would greatly benefit.

THE LATEST CURE-ALL.

The Americans are a nation of patent medicine consumers. There is certainly no country upon earth where such immense quantities of these decoctions are swallowed as in the United States. Scores of compounders of such specifics have made fortunes, reaching into the millions.

The claims advanced as to the efficacy of many of these preparations to cure all the ills that flesh is heir to are remarkable indeed, not to say presumptuous; but the limit in that direction seems to have been reached by a bottled miracle called the "microbe killer" which, starting on the simple presumption that all diseases are caused by microbes, modestly asserts that there is no disease in the world that will not yield to this cure-all. The Druggists' Circular, in the September issue, pays its respects, in a very incisive and satirical manner, to this new prospector in the field of public credulity. It has had a careful analysis of the compound made, and finds it to consist of five drams of sulphuric and muriatic acid, with an ounce of red wine, in a gallon of water. Even the acid is impure. This compound costs less than five cents a gallon, and sells for three dollars a gallon. The Druggists' Circular shows how ready some of the leading medical journals of the country are to give such noxious compounds the paid indorsement of their reading columns.

Americans, in their feverish chase for the almighty dollar, transgress almost every natural hygienic law, and when at length their outraged systems can stand no more, and rebel, they fly to seek relief within a few days, at a dollar a bottle, for ills that have been gradually accumulating for a quarter of a century.

When physiology and hygiene are given as much prominence in our schools as geography and mathematics, the American Nation will cease to be so happy a hunting-ground for speculative quacks.

A LONDON financial paper says that, commercially and politically, Russia is again taking a back seat. The revenues are disappointing, the crops are bad, and all branches of trade are depressed. Persecution of the Germans on the Baltic provinces has excited angry feelings in Berlin, and the abolition of trial by jury, just announced, has struck a fresh blow to Russian credit, as it shows that her Government is going backward, instead of forward,

A CORRESPONDENT writes to correct a statement that James S. Campbell, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, was elected to Congress from a Republican district. He says that the district which sent Mr. Campbell to Congress is composed of the counties of Butler, Preble, Warren and Clermont, all of which are usually Democratic, except Warren.

THERE has been a heavy drop in the price of sugar trust certificates, and many holders have lost large sums of money. We do not feel any great sympathy for those who thus aid the operations of monopolists of necessaries. They must take some of the medicine which they have been dealing out to the public.

ANOTHER rumor comes over the wires, to the effect that the Union Pacific is to be extended westward to a junction with the Atlantic and Pacific. These rumors are received so frequently that it is about time to remark that the way to extend is to extend. Los Angeles will be very pleased to extend her welcome and courtesies to the U. P., as soon as its track is extended in this direction, and the sooner the better.

IT can now be stated with accuracy that the Republicans will carry the State of Washington by a large majority, while the legislative ticket will be exceedingly close.

HEAVY DAMAGES

Claimed by Mrs. Schramm for the Killing of Her Husband.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has a $50,000 damage suit now in the courts, and the trial was begun yesterday before Judge Van Dyke. It is the case of Schramm vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. The suit is brought by Mrs. Schramm, whose husband was killed October 28, 1887, on San Pedro street, in front of the City Gardens. He was a fruit peddler, and had just bought a load of fruit in the gardens. His wagon was outside the gardens, and the horses had just been watered, when Schramm saw the train coming around the curve at Tenth street, about 800 feet away. He jumped on his wagon and whipped up his horses to get across the railroad track. The wheels got caught in some way, and before he could get out of the way the engine of the approaching train struck the hind wheels of the wagon. The force of the blow turned the wagon over on Schramm and broke his neck. Schramm was a young man who was just getting a start in Los Angeles. He had come from Detroit in 1886, where he had followed the business of a cigarmaker. He was a young man of industry, and had made a number of friends in the city.

The attempt on the part of the plaintiff is to show that the engineer of the train displayed criminal carelessness, and on the part of the defense to explode such a theory. Several witnesses were examined yesterday, and the testimony had been about all introduced at the time of adjournment.

The engineer who was on the engine at the time of the accident testified that he saw the deceased, and did not consider him in any danger until the wagon wheels got struck; then it was too late to stop the train, although he tried to do so. The trial is before a jury; Judge J. D. Bicknell is for the railroad and Messrs. Pepper and Bower for the plaintiff. The trial will be resumed this morning.

QUEER FREAK.

A Man Who Unconsciously Transacted Business for Weeks.

Dr. W. E. Reed has a patient on hand who presents some very interesting points. It is the Pacific Coast manager for a heavy eastern cigar manufacturing company, names withheld.

The gentleman is suffering from mental lethargy, and for some time previous to his breaking down must have lived an automatic existence. He spent six weeks in Oregon and Washington, transacted a large amount of business, receiving and paying out moneys, etc. He even made a lengthy political speech at Portland, Or., a copy of which has since been requested of him by a friend in the East, which was the first intimation to him that he had ever made such a speech, although often dealing in that sort of pastime.

When his mind aroused from this lethargy, his books showed his line of march and the business transacted; all of which proved, upon careful investigation, to have been carried out with a degree of accuracy that would have done credit to any one in full possession of all his faculties.

One of the most remarkable features of the case is that no one, during the entire period, observed anything unnatural in his appearance or conduct, or ever dreamed that his memory, to say nothing further, was absolutely dead as to his every word and act.

Coming to Los Angeles some six weeks ago, his nervous system gave way entirely, and he took to his bed, fluctuating between consciousness and unconsciousness for a month. He is now convalescent, and the Doctor thinks, after a little rest from business cares, which are evidently at the bottom of his brain trouble, he will again be able for duty.

Here is an interesting case for the savants of the freaks of the human brain.

BISHOP FOSTER

Revisits Los Angeles After an Interval of 17 Years.

Bishop Foster of the Methodist Church, from Boston, who has been presiding over the conference at San Bernardino, arrived in the city yesterday with his daughter, Miss Foster, and Mrs. Seawell, and they are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wiley Wells. Bishop Foster will preach tomorrow at the Fort-street Methodist Church. Before he arrived in California he was told that Los Angeles was "dead." After looking over the city and country, he says that he never saw such an active corpse. From the improvements going on and the permanent nature of the investments, he has arrived at the conclusion that there are more resources here than the people who have not visited the country understand. He says that he believes the country has resources to make Los Angeles a large city. He was here 17 years ago, and notes with astonishment the development since then. He thinks it will not only be a large city, but that there will be a number of eastern railroad connections not now dreamed of by the people. Bishop Foster will remain in the city several days.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Ex-Treasurer Burke of Louisiana was called upon by an Associated Press reporter today, and was found to be preparing for his departure to America tomorrow. He said he was not in condition to give full information regarding the bond matters, but he claims that his course in office was perfectly correct, and says if it can be shown that he is indebted to the State of Louisiana in any way he will make the indebtedness good.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—The Times-Democrat received a cable from ex-State Treasurer Burke, now in London, saying: "Engaged passage and will sail for New York Saturday."

ANOTHER BIG STRIKE.

Recent Scenes in London Repeated at Rotterdam.

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 27.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The strike which started among the dock laborers is spreading to other occupations. Employés of several large cigar factories have joined the movement. The strikers, headed by Socialist leaders, paraded the streets this morning, and afterward attempted to prevent the loading of the steamer Holland. The police intervened, and the loading proceeded. Several ship-owners resolved not to grant the increase of wages demanded.

Bodies of strikers gathered this afternoon and became so threatening that the police dispersed them with sabers. The Communal Guard was called to assist in preserving order.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Tillett, one of the leaders of the recent strike in London, will probably go to Rotterdam tomorrow in behalf of the strikers. He sent pickets to Harwich, the principal point of departure of the steamers for Rotterdam. They have already stopped many "blacklegs" on the way to Rotterdam to take the places of strikers. The dock laborers will discuss the question of sending aid to the strikers tonight.

John Williams, the Socialist, was arrested on a charge of intimidating men going to Rotterdam to take the place of strikers.

THE WOOL TARIFF.

Report on the Three Bills Presented to Congress.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Appraiser Sharretts has transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury a report in reply to a request for a compilation of the best features of the three tariff bills presented to Congress. It recommends protection of home industries, but urges that raw material and goods not indigenous to the United States should be admitted free, especially when they do not interfere with home industries, as wool, tin, salt and lumber. As foreign wool must be used to mix with the domestic article to compete with foreigners, it should be free, as high cost limits the production of raw wool here. If it is free, the mixed tariff of the Senate bill is superfluous; but if the tariff on raw wool is to remain, the mixed tariff is indispensable, and there must be pound duty on raw wool, together with ad valorem duty on the manufactured articles.

THE HORTICULTURISTS.

The Advantages of Fig-growing in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The State Board of Horticulture held its monthly meeting this afternoon. Robert Williamson of Sacramento was the only one who spoke upon the subject fixed for the meeting, which was, "What fruits are best to plant this winter?"

Mr. Williamson spoke at length, mentioning the apple, peach, apricot, prune, almond, olive and orange. The tree par excellence, however, he believed to be the fig, and he expressed the opinion that this industry would soon be the largest in California. The common purple fig of California is a strong grower and an immense producer, and even at 3 cents a pound for the dried article is a most profitable fruit. The best country for the fig he believed to be the foothills of the sierras.

The old board of officers was renominated, and the meeting adjourned.

RAILWAY WRECK.

Terrible Disaster in New York State.

Collision Between Sections of an Express Train.

Several Mangled Bodies Taken from the Ruins.

Fears That Many More Victims Are Still in the Ruins—Railway Officials Reticent—An Eye-witness's Story.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PALATINE BRIDGE (N. Y.), Sept. 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The St. Louis express, which left Albany at 10 o'clock last night, met with a bad accident about two miles east of here about midnight. The first section broke down and stopped for repairs. The rear brakeman was sent back to signal the second section. The first section was made up of baggage, mail, express and three passenger cars, packed with people, and a Wagner sleeper on the end. The second section came down and ran into the first. The crash was terrific. The second section telescoped into the first section, knocking out the lights and plunging everything into darkness.

Up to this hour, 2 a.m., four bodies have been taken out of the sleeper, and it is feared the total number of deaths will run up to 25, and possibly more, as the car was full. It is difficult to get particulars at this hour.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED.

ALBANY (N. Y.), Sept. 28.—The train wrecked is the one which goes via Niagara Falls and the Michigan southern route. A special from Canajoharie says great excitement prevails, and that the dead are estimated at about twenty to thirty.

ALBANY, Sept. 28, 3 a.m.—Authentic information received here says that four persons were killed in the accident at Palatine bridge, three men and one woman. Engineer Horth of Albany had both legs broken. The superintendent has issued orders that the injured be conveyed to hotels and taken care of. Two wrecking trains have gone to the scene of the disaster.

DID NOT SEE THE SIGNALS.

LATER.—The wounded engineer, Horth, was brought here on a late train at 3:30 this morning. He claims not to have seen any signal, which should have been made by the rear brakeman of the first section, and on going around the curve he discovered the rear lights of the first section when he was almost upon it. He reversed and applied the air-brakes, but the brakes did not respond properly. Horth is in a critical condition. The train which brought him here did not stop for any particulars at the scene of the wreck. It is impossible to get more definite details as to the killed or injured tonight.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

A Correspondent's Story—Fears of a Long Death List.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—[By the Associated Press.] A correspondent of the Times, who was on the wrecked train, says when the crash came, he was asleep in the coach next ahead of the sleeper in the first section. The car was crowded with passengers. The wreck could not have occurred in a more unfavorable place, and everything except the coaches was in pitch darkness. For a while the people were too dazed to do anything. The engineer of the second section, William Horth, when seen, was suffering great agony and could talk but little. The train men were mute, as usual, under the circumstances. The engine of the second section was wrecked beyond redemption. The roof of the express car immediately behind had sprung through the cab and thrown the engineer to the ground, the fireman making his escape by jumping. Beyond this the second section was not damaged, the heavy vestibule sleepers protecting it from telescoping.

The heavy sleepers in the first section sustained the shock of the collision and saved the three passenger coaches in front, filled with men, women and children, from destruction. There was not a doctor on board, and it was very difficult to get restoratives for the injured. It was not until a large bonfire was built on the north side of the track that a realizing sense of the disaster was obtained.

Already six wounded passengers, including one lady, have been taken from the Wagner sleeping car. Axes and saws were procured and willing hands set to work to cut away the sides of the telescoped cars. How many bodies, if any, are left in there at this writing it is impossible to tell. When the correspondent left the scene they had not made much progress.

The correspondent tried in vain, before leaving, to find the rear brakeman of the first section. He is the most important person now, for it was his duty to run back at least 600 yards the moment the train stopped. There is a discrepancy as to the length of the time the first section was standing at Palatine, while the engineer was making repairs, some claiming that scarcely a moment elapsed before the crash and others that they were standing fully five minutes. The correspondent and passenger walked two miles to Palatine village and aroused surgeons, who hurried to the front as quickly as possible. Assistance was also telegraphed for from other points.

The latest report that four bodies have been taken from the wreck is all the authentic news now obtainable. It is feared that the list of the dead will be much higher.

Burning Fields.

CRESCENTA, Sept. 27.—Heavy fires have been raging here all day and yesterday. They are now burning in Verdugo Pass.

A gentleman named Thrall narrowly escaped being burned, together with his horses, in a cañon north of here.

SAN FERNANDO, Sept. 27.—The heavy fires that are raging down the valley cause no alarm here with the present state of the wind. The fire swept over Calabasa, destroying a quantity of hay and grain in stack. At Fill, a small town near the foothills, some damage was done to the grain.

Thrown from His Wagon.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 27.—[Special.] This evening about 9 o'clock John Griggsby, who lives about three miles from the city, was thrown from his wagon when on his way home and sustained serious injuries. He was cared for by Dr. Davis, who found on examination that the collar-bone was broken and the shoulder-blade put out of place. The injured man is now resting easy.

OLD GERONIMO.

North Carolina Objects to His Presence.

Gov. Fowle Writes a Tart Letter to Secretary Proctor.

Suggesting Vermont as a Stamping-Ground for the Chief.

A Report That the President Will Announce His Choice for Tanner's Place Today—National Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] In a few days Secretary Proctor will send a board of army officers with a committee of the Indian Rights Association to conclude the purchase of a tract of land in Western North Carolina, upon which Geronimo and his Indians, now in Alabama, will be placed. The tract is near the Tennessee line, from which it is separated by the Great Smoky Mountains. The Cherokees living there now are remnants of the band which refused to go to the Indian Territory.

GOV. FOWLE'S SHARP PROTEST.

RALEIGH (N. C.), Sept. 27.—Some days ago Secretary of War Procter wrote Gov. Fowle in regard to the proposed removal of Geronimo and his band of Indians to Western North Carolina. Today Gov. Folle wrote a reply. He says that such settlement of Indians in North Carolina would create great dissatisfaction, particularly if their location should be in the west part of the State, on lands to be purchased from the Cherokee Indians, as proposed by the Secretary of War.

"These lands," he says, "are not reservation lands, but were bought from the State by the Cheokees, who are now few in numbers, and will soon disappear, and the land will then be settled by white people."

The Governor, in conclusion, suggests to Secretary Proctor, that the Indians be colonized in Vermont, portions of that State being now abandoned by the white people. The Governor informs the Secretary that no happier spot could be chosen for his purpose.

THE CRY FOR FISH.

Why Not Furnish Some of the "Trombone's" Mare's Meat?

"Resident Soldier" writes from the Soldiers' Home to the Santa Monica Outlook as follows:

"I have been for four months a member of the home. During that time, writing to friends and relatives, I have described the home as an excellent institution—clean, well-ventilated dormitories, excellent beds, good and sufficient food, and the management conspicuous for the non-interference with all who respect themselves, and lenient to those who transgressed the rules.

"It seems that all this time, according to the Tribune, I have been living in a fool's paradise; that instead of this being a haven of rest, provided by the most generous people on earth for the old soldiers, that it is a prison—the food bad and insufficient, the Governor a tyrant who curses the G.A.R. and despises his old companions in arms.

"There is no denying that 5-cent beef is rather tough; but the corned beef, mutton and fish are good; the bread and butter are excellent. The coffee always has been genuine, and strong enough and hot enough to satisfy any reasonable person.

"The gallant ex-Confederate, who, in his sympathy with us in our imaginary grievances, gives us such an appetizing picture of the strawberries and cream, oysters and shad supplied at the Hampton Home, has rather too much fish in his bill of fare. I am sure that if we were fed for weeks on barracuda or shad such a cry for 5-cent beef would go up as would shake the land from the Sierras to the sea."

The Los Angeles Tribune of yesterday announces, as the result of the "shake-up," which it gave to the Soldiers' Home, that the Governor is now calling for new bids for a supply of beef. The fact is, the quarter for which the contract was let for furnishing supplies has about expired, and the Governor has advertised for new bids for the next three months, beginning on the 1st of October. This is not a matter of national importance, but it is well enough to be correct.

The cunning and demagogical Trombone is consumed with anxiety to make itself appear as a "powerful newspaper"—as a journal of influence—and in its straits resorts to such contemptible tactics as those above exposed. As a fact, the Trombone has nearly as much influence as a puff of vitiated air in a hot skillet.

ANOTHER DAMAGE CASE.

This Time Against the Southern Pacific.

The case of De Luna vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, called yesterday in Judge Shaw's court, revives the story of the dreadful accident in 1888 near the San Fernando tunnel. The case is for $40,000 damages against the company, and was brought by the relatives of Miguel Luna, who was killed in that accident. It was caused by a collision between a construction train and a freight train. Luna was in the employ of the company as a section hand, and was being conveyed on the construction train to his home at San Fernando when the accident occurred. He, together with Engineer Westerfield and Fireman Brook, were among the dead, and several were wounded. An inquest was held, and the Coroner's jury held that the accident was caused by the criminal carelessness of the conductor and engineer of the construction train. A number of nice legal points are likely to arise in the trial, which will begin today, the Court allowing it to go over on account of a pending case, although it was set for yesterday. The case will be ably contested on both sides. For the plaintiff are Messrs. Reymert, Orfila & Reymert, and for the railroad J. D. Bicknell, Esq.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Thanks Tendered to Bankers Who Will Aid the Grape-growers.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday the following was adopted:

WHEREAS, at the request of the president, the following-named members of this chamber, to wit, H. C. Witmer, president of the California Bank; Maj. G. H. Bonebrake, president of the Los Angeles National Bank; Hon. E. F. Spence, president of the First National Bank; L. N. Breed, president of the Southern California National Bank, held a conference, the result of which was the formation of a syndicate of those banks, by which the grape crop of the county is being marketed at a fair price, when without their aid the same would, to a large extent, have been wasted, thereby entailing on many a serious loss, and one which would have been severely felt by the community at large; therefore be it

Resolved, that the thanks of this board be returned to the above named gentlemen for their promptness and liberality in affording relief to the grape-growers of this county.

Humane Society Work.

A few days ago Officer Wright of the Humane Society wrote to the management of the Magdalen Home, San Francisco, and to Mrs. McWade of the Sheltering Home, Oakland, asking upon what terms they would receive and take in charge Mollie Devoe, the 15-year-old girl at present serving a 30-days' sentence for vagrancy in the City Prison.

He yesterday received an extremely sympathetic letter from the Sisters of Mercy who conduct the Magdalen institution, asking him to at once forward his wayward charge. Mrs. McWade also replied, announcing her willingness to receive the girl.

Mr. Wright will place his communications before the Board of Supervisors, and it will decide to which institution the girl shall be sent.

Held to Answer.

The case of the People vs. Alberto Lopez and Ramon Quijada came up before Judge Owens yesterday. The defendants, two youths of about 18 years of age, are charged with committing burglary on the premises of the City Brick Company, Yale street, on the 5th inst. On that day an entrance was effected into the premises in question, through an open window, and a silver watch and chain, two pairs of shoes, a shirt and $100 in gold were abstracted. All of the property, with the exception of the money, has been recovered.

The defendants were held to answer in the Superior Court, the bail in each case being fixed at $1000.

An Extraordinary Birth.

On Wednesday evening last, Dr. E. M. Griffith was called to attend a Spanish lady, who gave birth to a most extraordinary child. It was an almost exact reproduction of the famous Siamese twins, having two distinct heads, four arms and four legs. The two anatomies were joined by a ligature of flesh four inches long, extending from the breast to the navel. The bodies were about nine inches long, and both of the female sex. The unfortunate creatures lived only 20 hours.

A Small Blaze.

At 8:55 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was turned in from San Fernando street, and the Plaza engine was quickly on the scene. A small blaze had started in the blacksmith shop at the old Southern Pacific depot, but it was quickly extinguished without any damage of consequence being done.

BAD INDIANS.

CHANGO AND M'GILL LODGED IN JAIL LAST NIGHT.

Charged with the Murder of a 13-year-old Indian Girl of the Yuma Tribe—Arrested to Escape the Vengeance of the Red Men.

The latest arrivals at the County Jail last night were two stalwart Indians named Chango and McGill. They were straight and sinewy, and their hair long and hanging down their backs in pleats.

They came in on the overland train last evening in charge of a Deputy United States Marshal, and were marched up to the County Jail, where they were booked as United States prisoners from the Yuma Indian Reservation.

They are charged with the murder of a pretty Indian girl named Hippa, aged 13 years, and were brought away just in time to escape the wrath of the excited Indians. The murder took place on the night of the 21st, and is quite a mysterious affair. On the morning of the 22d, in a gulley near the house of Hippa's father, the dead body of the girl was found, lying extended at full length on her back and without any external marks of violence.

The remains were carried up to the house, and the news soon spread among the Indians, who grew more and more excited as the evidences accumulated that the girl had been murdered. There were some discolorations on her body, and it finally became a certainty in the minds of the bucks that Hippa had been kicked to death.

There was an investigation carried on very secretly, and it resulted in suspicion being fixed upon the two Indians lodged in the County Jail last night.

There had been a dance that night on the reservation, and there had been a pretty wild time, as is usual upon occasions of that kind amongst the Indians. It was found that Chango and McGill had been with Hippa and another squaw, and that the men had been freely supplied with whisky. None of them were at the dance, but took their fun in getting drunk. They had several flasks of whisky, and both the squaws drank whisky. They did not give Hippa the raw spirits, she being a mere girl, but mixed what she drank with water. The movements of the men and women were traced only so far, and then nothing more except circumstantial evidence could be found. It was enough, however, to set Indians on fire, and they had a pow-wow, at which the whole thing was discussed, and the evidence that had been collected was produced.

It was the solemn decision of the pow-pow that McGill was guilty of the murder of the girl. The father was present, and sat in the circle in solemn dignity, stoical, but intensely excited over the murder of his child. She had been very much beloved by the Indians, and was a pretty and intelligent young girl. No murder on the reservation has excited such intense excitement among the Indians for years. When they had found McGill guilty they pronounced sentence of death on him and disbanded.

The news of the pow-wow leaked out, and reached the ears of the Government officials, and they came to the conclusion that the only way to prevent McGill's being tortured to death, with all the fiendish accompaniments incident to such occasions, was to have him arrested. Accordingly a telegram was sent to Los Angeles, and an officer was sent to Yuma.

When he arrived there he found the Indians in a state of excitement bordering on frenzy, and McGill and Chango were turned over to him. He got them off on the earliest possible train, and arrived with them safely last evening.

McGill says that he did not murder the girl. Both Indians are smart, and can talk English pretty well, but close up like clams when asked questions about the crime. McGill, however, says that he and Chango had "much firewater." They had four flasks, and McGill says he drank several big drinks until he was so drunk he did not know what he was doing. He admits being with the girl and the squaw, and says that the girl drank some whisky with water, while the squaw drank some and then spit it out. He claims that he was very drunk, and does not know what happened. But he was not so drunk but that he remembered a good deal that took place. He says he does not know what became of the girl.

The Mexican who sold the whisky to Chango and McGill was arrested at Yuma yesterday, and examined before the United States Commissioner. The whisky was sold to the Indians in Arizona, and Chango was an important witness in the examination. The Mexican was held to answer to the charge, and was sent to Tucson to await his trial, his offense having been committed in that district.

The murdered girl has a number of relatives among the Indians on the reservation, and they have sworn eternal vengeance on the murderer. The chief of the Yuma Indians is said to be connected by some ties of consanguinity with one of the prisoners, but he is accredited with being more rabid than any of them to punish the guilty men. Officers will leave for Yuma today or tomorrow to summon witnesses in the case, and the trial will prove quite an interesting one. The prisoners last night seemed to feel very well satisfied that they had put so many miles between themselves and the Yuma Indian Reservation.

PASADENA NEWS.

THE TEMPERATURE HOLDING ITS OWN.

A Legal Padding—In and Out of the Suburbs—Among the Unfortunate—A Narrow Escape—Here and There—Local Intelligence—Personal Mention.

PASADENA, Sept. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The lawyers now are experiencing a rush of business, and one case in particular seems to have been revived again, only in another form, for a jury of six to decide. About a month ago at an auction sale, Constable Butterworth sold a dear, pet horse, belonging to Mrs. Mary J. Quantrell, but which faithful animal was used in the commission business by the husband. A suit was instituted for the recovery of the value of the horse, not the animal itself, as a number of experts had testified the creature was worth only $40. Judgment for a lack of evidence was rendered against the Constable, and Kellogg Bros., the defendants, deposited a bond, and had the case appealed.

Now, in the face of all this, and the excellence of justice, Quantrell discovers, or his lawyers do, that he had a wagon. This useful counterpart in the business, so the legal lights affirm, is, under the law, exempt from attachment, as the statutes do not say a man must use a handcart when he can get a wagon. The plaintiff fixes the value of the vehicle, to him only, at $100, notwithstanding the fact that the auctioneer rattled off the body and wheels at $34. Here is a nut for the jury to crack. The case has been set for a hearing on Tuesday morning before Justice Van Doren.

SANTA MONICA.

The Sporting Element Gets a Severe Blow Over the Fight.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Santa Monica seems to be unlucky with her pugilists, for with the exception of Mulholland, when he trained for his contest with Manning, her attachés have all suffered defeat. First Jones, then Ellingsworth and now Tommy Danforth have met with reverses, and in the last two engagements the sports have lost considerable money. It is figured that $3000 or $4000 went out of Santa Monica in support of Danforth, and Charley Kimball is about the heaviest loser.

Ed Cuffe, who was training here for his fight with McCoy next month, has become disheartened by this string of disasters, and this morning packed up and went to Los Angeles, where he will probably conclude his training.

The mountain fires subsided toward morning, having devastated the country nearly to the southern point of the bay.

The reception given Rev. H. Cox last evening was largely attended by his many friends who were desirous of welcoming him back to his charge. An entertaining programme was rendered by the young people and refreshments were served.

An Angry Heathen.

As Officer Walsh patrolled the purlieus of Chinatown last night sounds of a scuffle and cries of "murder" interrupted his reveries on the mysteries of Confucius. The officer rushed down an alley, and discovered a diminutive heathen named Ah Hing about to decapitate a fellow Chinaman with a brand-new ax. Walsh promptly stopped the affray and brought Ah Hing to the station, where a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was booked against him. Quong On, who alleged that the prisoner was his cousin, and a very innocent member of his family, put up $100 in gold coin as security that Ah Hing would appear to answer the charge at 1 p.m. today. The ax was detained as evidence.

Bishop Wingfield.

Bishop Wingfield, who is on his way to the general convention of the Episcopal Church, in New York, arrives in Los Angeles this morning, in order to consecrate the Memorial Church, built by Mrs. Campbell-Johnston, at Garvanza, of which an account has already been given in THE TIMES. He will also confirm at St. Paul's and Christ's churches in this city.

Bishop Wingfield is already well known to citizens of Los Angeles, from his frequent visits here. Bishop Wingfield's visitation will probably be memorable as the last one in the undivided diocese, since it is confidently expected that the next general convention will establish the Diocese of Southern California.

That Gripsack Embezzlement.

William Wall, an old soldier, was held a few days since by Justice McElfresh at Santa Monica to answer before the Superior Court upon a charge of embezzlement. He borrowed a valise and $4.50 from a Mrs. Grace Porter at Santa Monica, and failed to return them at the time specified. She thereupon had him arrested. He told her that he was coming to Los Angeles to arrange his affairs and get into the Soldiers' Home. Yesterday the District Attorney moved that the charge be dismissed against the defendant, on the ground that the evidence does not show any intent on the part of the old man to commit the crime of embezzlement. The Court accordingly discharged William Wall.

A Lively Scrap.

Just after the runaway accident on Temple street yesterday afternoon, the denizens of the Bryson-Bonebrake block were treated to an extempore reproduction of the Soto-Danforth contest, only in this case both men were heavyweights. George Bryson, who has charge of the elevator, left his position for a few moments to see if anyone was injured in the smashup, and when he returned he found an irate patron of the elevator, who abused him in the roundest epithets for delaying his ascent. Bryson got hot, and a rattling mill ensued, in which the gentleman of choice language was considerably damaged. The bystanders saved him from utter annihilation, and he went his way, a sadder and battered man.

Whipped His Wife.

The residents in the vicinity of the moonshine block were startled this morning by the loud shrieks of a woman. Upon investigation it proved to be a man whipping his wife because she had not gone to colton, 203 south spring street, to buy their furniture. The police, learning the facts, did not arrest the man, as it served her right.

PARK COMMISSION.

The City Fathers Draw a Line on Expenses.

The Park Commissioners met in the Mayor's office yesterday evening, and the following communication from the City Clerk was read and filed:

Gentlemen: I am instructed by the Finance Committee to inform your honorable body that the demands forwarded to the Council for approval largely exceed the amount which the Council has heretofore decided to allow per month for park expenses. The amount allowed by the Council for such purposes is $25,000, and the Council has decided that of the park, fire and cash funds only one-half of the entire amount would be allowed each month. The parks will, therefore, be allowed each month $2084.

The two pay rolls allowed and approved by the Finance Committee aggregated $2434.50, so that you have overdrawn $340.50, for which please make provision in your demands next month.

I return to you the pay roll indorsed "Westlake Park, for July, 1889, $986.25," there being no provision for its payment at this time, and for the additional reason that no demands accompanied it, except W. H. Wynn, $8.

The demands of Hoffman, $2.95; Brown & Foster, $4.16, and Southern California Land Company, $16, will be laid over to next month. F. G. TEED.

The offers of I. Alexander Brown and J. M. Stewart to donate palm trees for the City Hall grounds were accepted, and a vote of thanks to them passed.

The board considered in detail the plans for laying out the grounds at the new City Hall, and the same having been approved, the board adjourned.

A Narrow Escape.

At 4:15 p.m. yesterday a horse and buggy belonging to Frank Mattern was hitched to a post on Hill street, when a passing bicyclist scared the horse, and the latter broke loose, running at full speed down Temple street, at that time crowded with vehicles. Passing the police station the buggy collided with a wagon, and a moment afterward the frightened runaway ran into a buggy in which were Mrs. Smale, her sister and two children. Mrs. Smale's buggy was overturned and smashed to atoms, but, fortunately, the two ladies and children escaped without serious injury. The runaway horse was rather badly cut, and Mr. Mattern's buggy presented a sorry appearance.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The stock market was more active today and displayed more character than in many months, and dealings were attended by much excitement. A bullish feeling, good foreign buying and favorable returns of earnings were influential in establishing a higher range of values at the opening, and the market displayed a decided broadening tendency. After 12 o'clock, however, there were ugly rumors set afloat in regard to Atchison, and it was stated that the financial plan for the rehabitation of the company would prove a failure, necessitating a receivership in default of October interest was also promised, while the reorganization scheme was to include a $10 assessment. There was a flood of the stock when it had declined something over 4 per cent., and denials of the stories seemed to help the stock but little, and when the selling movement had exhausted itself the rally was feeble and could not hold. Sugar trusts, which had given signs of inside support, went down, and its extreme loss was 8¼ per cent. These movements created much uneasiness, and the pressure to sell extended to all portions of the list, and before the delivery hour all the advances of the forenoon were wiped out and in most cases fractional losses in addition were sustained.

SEPTEMBER THE 28TH.

NOTABLE HISTORICAL EVENTS OF THIS DATE.

Henry VI. of Germany—Sir William Jones—Jean Baptiste Massillon—Thomas Day, Author of "Sanford and Merton."

Henry VI. was born in 1165, succeeded his father, Frederick Barbarossa, in 1190, as Emperor of Germany. Claiming the sovereignty of Sicily by right of his wife, Constance, he made an unsuccessful invasion of that island, but after receiving the ransom money for Richard I. of England, whom he held as prisoner, he fitted out a second expedition, captured Naples, subjugated Sicily, and was crowned at Palermo. He treated the Sicilians with great cruelty and his death, which occurred September 28, 1197, was ascribed to poison.

SIR WILLIAM JONES,

an oriental scholar, was born in London, September 28, 1746. He studied at Harrow School and at University College, Oxford, and was for five years tutor to the son of Earl Spencer. Having acquired an extensive knowledge of oriental languages, as well as of nearly all the tongues of Europe, he translated in 1768, at the request of the King of Denmark, the "Life of Nadir Shah" from the Persian into the French, published a Persian grammar in 1769, commenced the study of law in 1770, and was four years later admitted to the bar. He was knighted in March, 1783, and was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of Bengal. He married Anna Maria Shipley, a daughter of the Bishop of St. Asaph. He arrived in India in September, 1783, continued his oriental studies, and founded in 1785 the "Asiatic Society." Its object was to procure information relating to the history, languages, sciences and antiquities of Asia. He was the author of numerous valuable works, and is regarded by many as the greatest oriental scholar that Europe has produced. He died at Calcutta, April 27, 1794.

JEAN BAPTISTE MASSILLON,

one of the most illustrious of French pulpit orators, was born in Provence in 1663, became Bishop of Clermont in 1717, was elected to the French Academy in 1727, and died September 28, 1742. An interesting incident in his life recalls the bestowal of the archbishopric of Cambrai on the infamous Cardinal Dubois. The ambitious ex-valet de chambre succeeded in being consecrated not only by the Bishop of Nantes, but also by Cardinal Rohan and by Massillon, a timid man and a poor one in spite of his pious eloquence. Dubois dragged the Regent Orleans into giving him the appointment, and in his extremity had recourse to the French Minister at London, who, at Dubois's suggestion, went to George I. to ask that monarch to recommend the negotiator of the late treaties to the Regent's consideration. The King burst out laughing. "How can you ask a Protestant prince," said he, "to mix himself up with the making of an archbishop in France? The Regent will laugh at the idea, as I do, and will do nothing of the sort." "Pardon me, sir," rejoined Destouches, the French Minister. "He will laugh, but he will do it, first out of regard for Your Majesty, and then because he will think it a good joke. I beseech Your Majesty to be pleased to sign the letter I have here already written." King George signed, and the adroit Dubois became archbishop of Cambrai.

THOMAS DAY,

the author of "Sanford and Merton," a book which several generations of children have read and enjoyed for its stories, and the most notable of English disciples of J. J. Rousseau, was born in London in 1748, and died September 28, 1789. Rousseau's ideal of education was a cross between the Red Indian and the Spartan. Many of his disciples reduced his most questionable dogmas to practice. Mrs. Gaskell in her "Life of Charlotte Brontë" relates that she had an aunt who was adopted in childhood by a wealthy couple to be educated on the French plan. Her food and clothing were of the simplest and rudest description, but this she did not mind; her hardship lay in the fact that she and her favorite dog were taken for an airing in the carriage on alternate days, the creature whose turn it was to be left at home being tossed in a blanket, an operation which the girl specially dreaded. Her aversion to the tossing was the reason why it was persevered in. She had grown indifferent to dressed-up ghosts, and so the blanket exercise was selected as the next best mode of hardening her nerves. Having resolved on marriage, Day determined that his wife should be modelled in accordance with the new light. He therefore went to an orphan asylum at Shrewsbury, and picked out a flaxen-haired girl of 12, whom he named Sabrina Sidney, after the Severn and Algernon Sidney; and then to the Foundling Hospital in London, where he selected a second girl, whom he called Lucretia. In taking these girls he gave a written pledge that within a year he would place one of them with a respectable tradesman, giving £100 to bind her apprentice, and that he should maintain her if she should turn out well until she married or commenced business, in either of which cases he would advance £500. With Sabrina and Lucretia he set off for France, in order that in quiet he might discover and discipline their characters. He and the girls, however, quarreled; next they took smallpox, and he had to nurse them night and day; and by and by he was glad to return to London and get Lucretia off his hands by apprenticing her to a milliner, on Ludgate Hill. It is pleasant to know that he behaved well, and that on her marriage to a substantial linen draper, Day cheerfully produced his promised dowry of £500. Poor Sabrina was reserved for further trial, but failed to meet the requirements of her benefactor. He packed her off to boarding-school, gave her £500 on her marriage to a barrister, and pensioned her with £80 a year when she became a widow with two boys. In 1788 Day married a Miss Milnes of Wakefield, and was killed in 1789 by a kick from a horse, which he was trying to train on a new method.

Fall and Winter 1889-'90.

It is a well-understood fact that, outside of a few houses in the large cities, our garments are unequaled for style, fit and workmanship. On account of our reputation for very high-priced work, many are of the impression that we make nothing else. While we keep our reputation above the usual standard, we sell Suits as low as $35 and Trousers as low as $10. Our fall and winter importations of Woolens are now in stock, and we will be pleased to display them to intending purchasers. Polaski Bros., 114 North Main street.

A BADLY-HUNG JURY.

Discharged After Being Out Over 25 Hours.

The jury in the Coenen damage suit against the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company had a remarkable career. They went out Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock, remained out all night, and yesterday morning were no nearer a solution of the problem intrusted to them than before. They struggled all the morning and all the afternoon to arrive at an agreement, the Court refusing to allow them to come in, and at 7 o'clock last night were just as far as at first from harmony in their deliberations. It is understood that they stood 8 for a verdict for the plaintiff and 4 against. In a case of this kind a verdict could have been rendered by nine jurors, but the eight could not pull over another man. At 7 o'clock W. H. Carter, one of the jurors, became very sick, and was furnished a lounge in the courtroom. Owing to the indisposition of the juror, Judge Shaw finally decided to discharge the jury, although he felt very loth to do so, and came very near keeping them together another night. Mr. Coenen, one of the plaintiffs, was very much disappointed over the result, for he was confident that he would secure a verdict and a handsome award of damages for the injuries sustained by his wife in the collision between his wagon and a street car, on the Downey-avenue line.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

THE DIFFICULTY OF PRESENTING NEW FEATURES.

What the Great Emporium Offers Patrons for Monday, also an Exhaustive List of Bargains for Today.

PEOPLE'S STORE,
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23, 1889.

It seems almost impossible to offer to the public anything new, yet, surprising as it may seem, we give on Monday many bargains, whose merits far surpass anything yet shown. We have entombed in our nature a peculiar faculty of always producing an unlimited supply, and, with this faculty fully awake, we have stored our immense show windows with unparalleled values for Monday. You must look long and carefully at every article, examine them closely and you will find them worth many times the price we put upon them. As this is the last sale of this description for some time, we have exerted our most stringent efforts to make it an overwhelming success. Grasp the opportunity; do not lose the last chance, for when it is too late you will utter the cry, "Why did I not take advantage of the grand bargains offered by the People's Store?" only to find that what has passed cannot be recalled. Now is the time. We hold out our hand to you. Clasp it and you will be richer thereby. Come early and select the choicest.

CATARRH

Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma,

CONSUMPTION,

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold. Indeed he declares he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another; and he is always exceedingly careful. It is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and the throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease it is somewhat changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is sometimes felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts he will "by and by" recover. But this delusion is the sad error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

The great danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present to some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh of ozoena, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhappiness to thousands of both sexes by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people. Every disease of this kind can be cured by our new system of practice.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the Compound Oxygen and other inhalations assist us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.
